

Cuddly Cremains

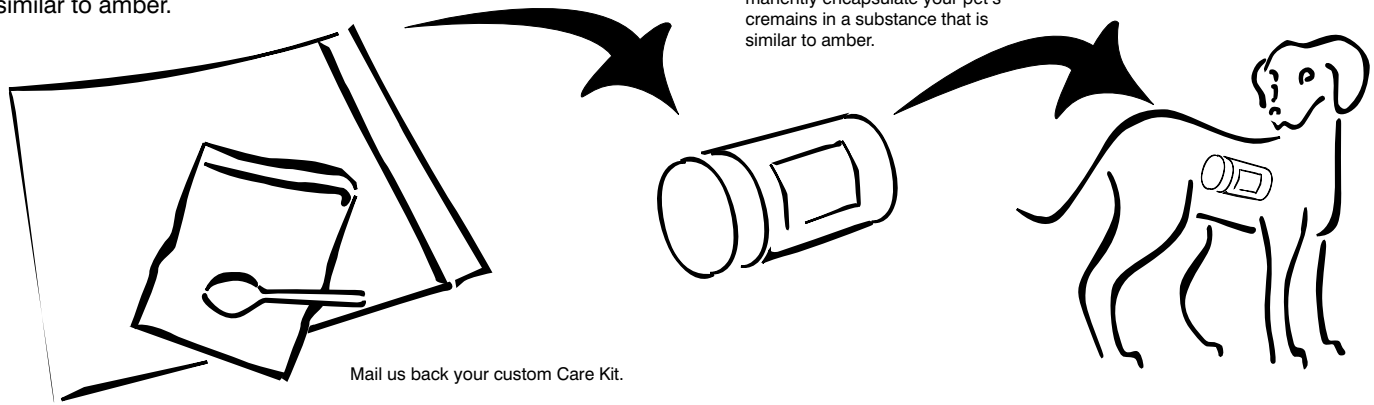

What if you could still hold them in your arms?

Our Unique Process

We have developed a patented process that allows us to permanently encapsulate your pet's cremains in a substance that is similar to amber.

We create a capsule that is the correct size to properly fit inside of the selected animal.

We have developed a patented process that allows us to permanently encapsulate your pet's cremains in a substance that is similar to amber.

The capsule that we create is formed into a cylindrical shape that varies in size, depending on the size of your pet and the amount of ashes that we receive.

In addition, if a smaller Cuddly Cremains Companion is selected, we will need to create a capsule that is the correct size to properly fit inside of the animal.

This process cannot be undone, but the cremains will never be in any danger of getting spilled or scattered.

To ensure that your pet's ashes are treated with the utmost respect, we also permanently seal your pet's name, birth and death dates (if provided), and picture (if provided) on the capsule so that there is no possibility of accidentally receiving the wrong pet's cremains.

The time that it takes to form the capsule is between 2-4 days, depending on the size of the capsule. Then we carefully open the selected stuffed animal and insert the capsule in the center so that it is padded on all sides to maintain the softness and cuddliness of the animal.

Our Special Friend

Our first Cuddly Cremains Companion was born when our special friend Max left this world. We did not want to store his precious ashes in some impersonal hard container. So, I thought, why not store the ashes in a replica of Max himself?

As when our baby was with us in this life, we wanted something soft and cuddly to hold and to have around at all times after he was gone. My family and I find this to be very comforting to our aching hearts.
